"Everyone talks about the victim and the perpetrator. Nobody gave the child a voice. Until now."

ABOUT TINA

Tina Turner is a survivor, healer, and author whose story begins on December 27, 1985 — the night she witnessed, at ten years old, the murder of her mother. As the sole eyewitness, she testified at trial at eleven, securing a conviction. For forty years, she carried that night inside her — surviving, building a life, raising children, and quietly transforming pain into purpose. Her debut memoir, Baptized in My Mother's Blood, is the story she was always meant to tell. Today Tina speaks to audiences across the country about healing from childhood trauma, the power of forgiveness, and what it truly means to pivot into peace.
